J. R. KEENE'S FUTURITY.

JUVENAL'S SON WAS THE VICTOR.

AUGUST BELMONT'S BRIGADIER RAN NEXT TO CHACORNAC.

For the second time the Futurity, richest of American turf prizes, has failen to James R. Keene, whose noble coit Domine carried off the honors u On Friday Mr. Keene bought from his trainer, James Rowe, the gelding Chacornac, bred by the Thompsons at the celebrated farm, which D. D. Withers founded in New-Mr. Rowe purchased Chacornae as a yearling for $250 at the Brookdale auction sale. value of the Futurity, which was won by this $250 chap, was $41,240. Of this Mr. Keene as owner of Chacornac receives $20,990. The Thomp-2,000. The second horse in the Futurity was August Belmont's golding Brigadier. Mr. ceives $4,333 33, as owner, and as breeder of Brigadier, he gets $1.250. Bromley & Co., owners of the third horse. Windomere, get $2,166 67, and General W. H. Jackson, of the Belle Meade farm, takes $500

The triumph of Chacornac, a grotesquely cheap yearling, shows how varied are the chances and mischances of the turf. He is by the imported stallion Juvenal, out of the imported filly Lettila. and is the first of Juvenal's progeny to attain distinction. Mr. Keene's judgment in securing him the day before the Futurity was notable. It is not known how much he paid for him, but as Chacornac is a gelding it cannot be doubted that the um was much below the amount of first money Futurity. In Domino's year Mr. bought Hyderabad from Albert Cooper at a heavy outlay, because he thought it possible Hyderabad might be a formidable rival of Domino. Hyder-abad was not placed in the rich stakes, in which Domino defeated Galllee by a head, with Dobbins head behind Galilee. Chacornac was the runner in the Futurity of 1899, and hi glory was gained gallantly and with desert. was excellent and prompt, there was no serithe Futurity were run over again, Chacornae would probably be first and Brigadler second. quering son of Juvenal has a bold, free action, is in many a fierce battle hereafter. He has not yet proved his right to rank with Proctor Knott, Pote mac. His Highness, Morello and Domino, who were crowned with Futuritys wreaths, because he carried only 114 pounds, and because those five racers towered in their years far above the average of towered in their years far above the accept of successful two-year-olds. Moreover, Brigadier, a fast fellow, but no wonder, was at Chacornae's neck in the final stride. The future exploits of the Futurity hero of this season will be observed with eager scrutiny. It is too early to say whether or not he can outrun Mesmerist, Maribert, Sadducee and some other racers of his age who were not in the Futurity, but it is obvious that the laurels of yesterday will not be borne down in the dust by any feeble adversary.

The sky was dark and threatening, and the air was thick and foggy, but no rain fell at the course until it was deserted. With better weather the gathering of spectators would have been larger but the total was well up in the thousands, and the multitude was pleased by every feature of the Futurity, and rejoiced over the outcome. At all times the Keene stable, including Chacornac, Virginia Earle and Doublet, was a strong first choice in the speculation, while the pair entered by John J. Hyland-August Belment's Brigadler and James Boden's Okettee was steadily the second choice As the entry of Brigadier and Okettee had been in Hyland's name the pair was coupled in the bet ting. The winner of this year's Futurity carried only 114 pounds, the second horse only 109 pounds and the third only M2 pounds. If David Garrick Doublet, Virginia Earle, Gulden, Modrine, Plucky Musette, Chacornac, Brigadler and Windmers mee in the future at equal weights. Chacornae may perhaps be first, and Brigadier may possibly be second, but the issue would be problematical. The time was fast this year, 1:10 2-5.

A QUICK AND EVEN START. At 4:30 o'clock the pleasing field of twenty met-tlesome youngsters went to the post. In a few minutes they dashed off to a wonderfully quick and Not one of the twenty had a broad advantage, and not one of them was lagging behind. Modrine was slightly in front when the flag fell, while the three Keene runners held good positions, and Windmere, Plucky and Brigadier were aligned neatly and well. All the jockeys strove to seize a lead in the first quarter mile in order to avoid crossing or crowding. Hence the speed was furlous from the outset. Bullman, on Modrine, struggled sturdly to retain the marrow space which he had snatched as his colt shot away, but Chacor-nac's conquering crest was swiftly at Modrine's neck, and Juvenay's nimble son could not be re-sisted. Modrine did not flinch, but Chacornae's leaps were a triffe more agile and rapid than Mo-drine's, and bound by bound Chacornac spurned the earth with those glinting heels of his. The gelding from Brookdale, moving with redoubtable vigor and space devouring motion, was in the van at the head of the homestretch, and thence to the close no foe could affright him. Windmere was fast, but Chacornac was faster. Spencer Chacornac with cool confidence and apt dexterity. third. Brigadier sped up the stretch with a startling Chacornac with cool confidence and apt dexterity, Brigadier sped up the stretch with a startling rush, but Chacornac was the swifter, and the Futurity was captured fairly and bravely. No excuses could be suggested for the vanquished ones. At the weights they met their master.

Voter was withdrawn from the Fall Handicap, at ex furlongs. In his absence May Hempstead was the favorite, with Firearm a very close second choice. Maher's ride on May Hempstead was unplaced. Mis worst days. Because of his inexcusable and outrageous apathy May Hempstead was unplaced. His riding called loudly for an investigation; yea! it screamed and shricked for probing. Fifearm was also unplaced. That erraite beast Prévious took it into his crazy head to run kindly and got first place. Previous was backed by his owners and others down from 15 to 7 to 8 to 1.

F. Lorillard's colore, fanous, superb and triumphate many times on both sides of the Atlantic, were alited in the Futurity by lavid Garrick and The hands of A. J. Joyner to train. When Mr. Joyner took the pair the time before the Futurity was so short that he could not get an Eastern jockey to ride David Garrick in the great race. James Rowe had already obtained from Joyner (wito has been Maher's manager since ex-Corporation Courses (Lark wisely through Maher should ride for James K.)

Keene in the Futurity, and Maher rode Virginia Earle. Joyner brought East a little known Western Jockey named Jenkins to ride David Garrick in the Futurity. In the circumstances, no doubt, that was the best Joyner could do; but, of course, David Garrick, with 13 pounds on his back, including the obscure Jenkins, might as well have been in his stable as on the track. With that weight and that Jockey he could not be dangerous. Probably Joyner bet on the Keene stable, as he had a perfect right to do, taking all things into account.

Maher's riding, except on St. Clair, brought him no credit, and on May Hempstead it was not only discreditable, but

Sweet-faced Freddie rode the scarlet Morris filly Brusquerie in the second race, and rode her in typical sweet-faced style. But as Preddie rarely gets anything but scarlet mounts, and had not been seen in a race for many weeks, his curdled jockey-ship may be passed over lightly. He lacks width Newton Bennington, owner of Maidstone, claimed Pierre Lorillard's filly Olea out of the second race for $1.280. Olea was a poor third. She was entered to be sold for $500. It is doubtful if Olea is worth as much as $1.20.

That prehensile and retractile rider, Willie Martin, has been barred and banned by the Jockey Club, Long age and many times. The Tribune told the turf rulers that Martin ought to be put on the ground and kept there. For several seasons Martin, has been barred and banned by the Jockey Club, Long age and many times. The Tribune told the turf rulers that Martin ought to be put on the ground and kept there. For several seasons Martin, has been do not be tured to the ture of the pulls, but alies with men who control racetracks. The list of races in which that jockey has not done his duty is a long one. It is rumered that Martin has pulled together, a comfortable forsume, and can support himself for life on the interest of his pulls. If Marin will intribute Jean Jacques Rousseau, and print his confessions, unabridged and unexpursated, turfmen will be pleased. Which he ever tell what were his motives in leaving himself at the post on Clifford, the favorite in the Brooklyn Handicap, a few years ago? What was the dividend on the preferred stock of that financial enterprise? Mahch, when he left himself at the post on Banastar, the favorite in the Suburban this year, took Martin and Turner. Now, why don't they act as to the horizonkers or poorsoon agents or planyers who are back of the jockeys upon whom they have inflicted well deserved punishment? Are they afraid to go behind the jockeys upon whom they have inflicted well deserved punishment. Are they afraid to go behind the jockeys lies they might offenal certain powerful politicians who may not wonder that Turner has been turned down by the turf rulers. That was a wise turn. Turner and

GRAND CIRCUIT MEETING AT READVILLE ENDS WITH EXCITING CONTESTS.

Boston, Aug. 26.—The Grand Circuit meeting at the Readville track closed to-day with splendid victories by The Abbott in the free for all trot and Anaconda in the 2:04 pace. The afternoon's sport was somewhat marred by the laying up of Volo Maid in the 2:25 trot and her disqualification, together with her driver, Ben Demarest, both of whom were barred from the track for a year.

A great crowd saw the four trotters and pacers fight it out. Searchlight's defeat in the pace was a surprise, as well as a disappointment. The horse, while showing great speed, seemed unable to keep his feet, breaking in each heat when just about to take the lead. On the other hand, The Abbott in another race was driven in a masterly manner Geers with a great burst of speed, at the finish, white Bingen again proved his inability to win on The disqualification of Voic Maid and Demarest was unfortunate, but semed to be merited. The mare led the bunch in the 2 23 class in the first heat, but was beaten at the finish. She won the next heat, but could not get the race. The judges but McHenry in to drive after the first heat and gave him $100 after the race for his good work. A strong wind headed the horses in the back-stretch and kept the time up, but the air was cool and the sky clear, so that the afternoon was a

With the other races out of the way, the four great pacers, Searchlight, Anaconda, Roan Wilkes and Bersie Bonehill, came out for the 2:04 pace. The start of the first heat was seemingly a poor one, for Bonehill, having the pole, was two lengths behind. Her driver nodded for the word, and the behind. Her driver nodded for the word, and the horses were sent away. Roan Wilkes took the pole at once, and led Searchlight at the quarter, with Anaconda right up. The horses were close at the half. Searchlight being almost even with Wilkes. At the three-quarters Wilkes, Searchlight Wilkes. At the three-quarters Wilkes, Searchlight and Anaconda were on even terms, and it looked like a sensational finish.

Anaconda and Roan Wilkes had a great drive, but the favorite, Searchlight, broke and came in last, Anaconda taking the heat by two lengths over Roan Wilkes. Despite his bad showing in the first heat. Searchlight was the favorite in the second, but he again disappointed his backers, Anaconda and Wilkes had a grand fight to within one hundred yards of the wire, when the latter became tired, and Anaconda won the heat and race. THORP WINS THE HINKLE CUP. Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 26 (Special) .- J. G. Thorp, of Cambridge, won the finals in the Hinkle Cup tournament at Kebo to-day, defeating Richard Thorndyke, who had a handicap of 14, 3 up and 2 to play. The final match in the tournament was one of the most interesting contests ever wit-nessed on the Kebo links. Thorp won the Hinkle Cup last year also.

At the end of the morning's play of eighteen holes Thorp was 2 down. Thorndyke, with the aid of his liberal handicap and by consistent playing and wonderful putting, had been able to win the majority of holes, even though Thorp played bogie golf for nearly every hole. Time and time again Thorndyke holed out twenty foot puts, and if he could have kept this up all day he would have won out easily. In the morning round Thorp seemed a bit nervous, and missed a number o short puts when the stroke meant the hole.

Thorndyke, however, played the game of his life. Being somewhat afraid of his wooden clubs, he con-

Being somewhat afraid of his wooden clubs, he continually used his cleek to drive with, and always with good results. He was especially accurate, too, with his iron shots. Thorp covered the eighteen holes in the morning round in $5 and Thorndyke in 103.

Starting 2 down in the afternoon, Thorp piayed perfect golf, while the strain was too much for the Harvard lad, and before nine holes had been played he began to lose his nerve sadly. At the end of the first round Thorndyke was again in the lead, however, with 1up. From that time on the Cambridge crack had things all his own way, and, squaring matters at the fourth hole on

When the cards had all been turned in, the secret scratch score was taken out, and proved to be 95,

WILSON ONE UP IN MATCH WITH LOW. The first half of the home and home thirty-six nole match for $100, between R. B. Wilson, the Deal Beach professional, and George Low, the Dyker Meadow greenskeeper, was played yesterday at Deal Beach, and at the end of the day's play the home man was one up. The second half will come off at the Dyker Meadow links next Thursday, and Low's excellent showing yesterday will induce the Fort Hamilton men to back him heavily on the final result.

UNPLEASANT ACCIDENT AT DEAL BEACH. Several of the players of the Deal Beach Golf Club, including Dr. Burdette O'Connor and Charles O'Connor, and R. B. Wilson, George Low and James Laing, the "pros" at Deal, Dyker Meadow and the Crescent Athletic Club respectively, were driving to the train at Deal Beach last evening when a high trolley rail upset their stage and the entire party was thrown to the ground. A trolley car was coming down the track at full speed. As the lamps of the stage had been extinguished and several of the party were pinned under the vehicle, several of the party were pinned under the vehicle, a serious accident would have followed had not Wilson jumped to his feet immediately and run up the track, shouting at the top of his voice. He made the moterman hear him just in time for the latter to stop the car a few yards from the wreck. After a few moments all the players were well enough to continue their journey home.

LONDIER WON.

TAYLOR BEATEN AT NEW-BEDFORD-TAL

New-Bedford, Mass., Aug. 26.-Over three thou sand people were present this afternoon at the Buttonwood cycle track to witness the races in the National circuit meet. The races were interesting, with the best field of riders that has been seen here this reason. In the one ratio champion-ship "Nat" Butler and Coleman had no difficulty qualifying, while the second trial heat, in sich "Major" Taylor rode and won, was too slow, and had to be ridden over. This time the "Major" was placed in a pocket, Bowler and Munroe beating him out for a place. In the final heat Coleman, Liewellyn and "Nat" Butler were the prize win ners in the order named.

In the five mile professional handleap "Major" Taylor would not ride, and sithough "Nat" Butler had a hard field to run against, he won out. Munroe was a favorite, and came in second. mile amateur open race the Frenchman got away with the race, with Peabody a close second. In this race, in the second heat, Swift and took a bad tumble, but both were able to con tinue. In the one mile match race between Earl Peabody, of Chicago, and Archie Rollins, of this city, the latter cut ahead of Peabody on the homestretch, and Peabody claimed a foul. Referee W. H. Hand, jr., would not allow it. The second was a dead heat, and Rollins won the final heat easily Summaries:
